Information on C-SEB STUDENT AWARDS

To strengthen the link between research and teaching and to encourage the pursuit of an academic career, C-SEB invites nominations for C-SEB Student Awards aiming to honor excellent master students for their overall academic achievements.

Competition for the award is tied to a master thesis in economic and/or psychological research that relates to C-SEB's overall topics. Students with master theses submitted between November 1st, 2021 and April 30th, 2022 or with proposals for planned master theses are eligible.

All master students can be nominated who are/were enrolled as students at the UoC for their master thesis and whose master thesis supervisor is a member of the Faculty of Management, Economics and Social Sciences or the Faculty of Human Sciences. Any supervisor can nominate only one student per round.

The C-SEB Student Award is a recognition of exceptionally promising students. In addition to the award, up to 1,500 € can be made available for carrying out the master thesis project itself or for empirical research directly building on the results of a completed master thesis.

Financial means can be granted for as long as the award winners (1) are themselves members of the UoC (student/employee/stipend holder), or (2) conduct the research in collaboration with a researcher who is employed at or receives a stipend from the UoC.

Decisive criteria for the award are the overall academic excellence of the student as well as the scientific quality and originality of the master thesis project. The C-SEB Executive Board selects among the duly received nominations. The nomination deadline is April 30th, 2022.

Please submit the nomination form along with a description of the completed and/or planned research, the student's CV, the student's current transcript of records, and a laudation by the supervisor (covering the student's overall academic achievements and the scientific contribution of the master thesis project) in a single PDF file to c-seb@uni-koeln.de.

Applications are limited to 1 page for the description of the master thesis project (plus references), 1 page for the description of research building on a completed master thesis (if applicable, plus references), 1 page for the CV, and 1 page for the laudation.
